

FY 2024

Iron County Budget

Lucas Little, Iron County Auditor

Executive Summary

As the 2023 year comes to an end, we are still seeing some growth in the economy despite high interest rates and continued inflation. The economy did start to slow from what it was over the past few years and inflation has decreased but is still higher than the targeted rate. The slower but continued growing economy makes many economists believe that there will not be a recession. Some of the revenue sources in Iron County fluctuate based on the economy, there was a decrease in these revenues in 2023 due to the economy around the housing market declining. With recording fees and building permits taking the biggest hit in revenue.

Inflation has not only impacted volatility in revenue sources, but it has caused a major cost increase in materials, supplies, and wages. While the higher cost of goods brings in more sales tax revenue, it has also increased expenses for the County. Throughout 2023 the inflation rate has decreased as the federal funds rate greatly increased. The benefit of this has been a major increase in the interest revenue earned in the county investment accounts. This has made up for some of the other revenue sources coming in under budget. It is yet to be seen how the fund balances will ultimately be affected once the year is complete.

Utah is still in the midst of the lowest unemployment rates in the State's history. This labor shortage has had an impact on Iron County as well. It has been difficult to retain and hire qualified employees. Because of the low unemployment rate, other entities and businesses have raised wages to hire employees. In July of 2022 the Iron County Commission decided to reinstate the Step-in-Grade salary program and retroactively bring all employees up to the step coinciding with their years of service. The first step in this system was not set to take place in 2023 and no additional COLA adjustments occurred in 2023. Starting January 2024, the first step will go into effect, which is 1.5% per step. There has also been a COLA proposed of 5%.

The site for the new Correctional Facility was chosen and purchased in 2023. When the construction of the project will begin is still uncertain. Funding for the project is yet to be determined. We have been setting aside money each year for this project, which has covered costs up to this point and will be a good down payment when the time comes.

Additionally, Iron County is still working on implementing the new fleet program. The primary feature of the program is a quick turnover method of buying vehicles at wholesale prices and then selling those vehicles a couple of years later at market prices. Due to supply chain issues, we are behind schedule in this implementation. We hope that by the end of 2024 all older vehicles will be replaced and the program will be in full swing.

Overall, Iron County is in a solid financial position due to fiscally conservative management over the years. With the growing economy over the last few years, fund balances have increased at a steady rate. This has created more reserves for the future as the economy continues to change. With no general obligation debt, there is flexibility in the budget to adapt to the changing economy. Departments were asked to look at the necessity of each line item in their budget and were very frugal through the creation of the budget. Iron County has healthy fund balances, is financially strong and prepared for the future.
